PRESBYTERIAL MEETING.

The Woman's Presbyterian will hold its annual missionary meeting in this city at the Central Presbyterian church on Tuesday and Wednesday. A general invitation is extended to the popular meeting on Tuesday evening, when the program will consist of music and an address by Mrs. C. E. Wells of Guerrant, Ky., and an informal reception.

Miss Cora Ort of Bellevue, was the week-end guest of relatives here.

BRICK STREET WORK STARTED.

The first work on the new brick streets was started on Sutton street Monday morning by Contractors Schofield and Jones. A small crew was put to work on this street, but it will be increased in a few days. There were almost 200 applications for work when the contractors arrived on the job.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Club at the Public Library on Sutton street at 2:30 this afternoon.

MASON COUNTY'S OLDEST RESIDENT

Mrs. Jane Ball Quietly Celebrating Her Ninety-Sixth Birthday Today—Almost To the Century Mark.

Mrs. Jane Ball, widow of the late Kemp Ball, is celebrating her ninety-sixth birthday today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mollie Mitchell, on East Second street.

Mrs. Ball was born on April 17, 1820, in Lewis county. At the age of 19 she came to Maysville to make her home and has resided here since that time.

She has watched the growth of Maysville through the last seventy-seven years and few are the buildings that have not been erected since she came here. Many are the interesting stories she has told about the early history of the town, and could all the interesting things that she has witnessed and been concerned in be published in a volume it would indeed be a large book and many of the tales would be more interesting than the best of fiction.

Mrs. Ball has failed rapidly in the last four years, her eyesight having begun to dim at the beginning of that time. During the last year she has been confined to her bed and her mind is not as clear as it was only a few years ago. She is still able, however, to recognize some of the voices of friends of bygone days and enjoys their company. She is also able to perform a feat of memory that even a number of the most intelligent can not do, and that is to repeat the alphabet backward, with never a slip or a falter. More remarkable still is the fact that she had an attack of grip the last winter and recovered.

Mrs. Mollie Mitchell of this city, and Mr. William Ball of Huntington, W. Va., are the only surviving children of this good old Christian lady. Besides being called mother, she feels proud of the fact that she is also called grandmother and great-grandmother by a large number of children.

In Mrs. Ball's declining years her daughter, Mrs. Mitchell, has done all in her power to make life as bright and pleasant as is possible and makes it her especial duty to look after her welfare, leaving no wish or want unsatisfied.

During all her life Mrs. Ball has remained steadfast in the Christian faith, being a member of the local Baptist church and a constant attendant and indefatigable worker as long as she was able to get about. When the hand of the Master beckons her to come to her heavenly home He could well say: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over few things; I will make thee ruler over many things."

PASSION WEEK

Services To Be Held This Week At the Third Street M. E. Church Will Be Led By the Pastor.

This being Passion Week, special services will be held at the Third Street M. E. church every night this week, except Saturday. These services will begin at 7:15 and last until 8 o'clock. The different departments of the church will each have separate nights to be represented and will work for the interests of their respective evenings. The nights set apart for each department are as follows: Monday night, Ladies' Aid Society; Tuesday night, Sunday school; Wednesday night, Epworth League; Thursday night, church and choir; Friday night, official board.

Rev. J. M. Lital, the pastor, will conduct the services and has chosen as his topics for the week the following: Monday night, "Nothing But Leaves;" Tuesday night, "The Tables Turned;" Wednesday night, "The Unrecorded Happenings; Silent, But Thinking;" Thursday night, "The Monument Erected;" and Friday night, "The Crucifixion."

A sunrise prayer meeting will be held at the church on Easter Sunday morning at 6 o'clock and will be led by Miss Virginia Mae Hurd. The other services for Easter day will be announced later.

FIRST KENTUCKY DELEGATES TO ARRIVE.

Washington, April 17.—The first of Kentucky's delegates to the annual national convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution, to open here today, have arrived. They are Mrs. Lucien Maltby and Miss Mary Page Maltby, who live near Maysville.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Power returned home Friday night from a bridal trip in the east.

REGULARS GETTING READY.

The Maysville Regulars met at League Park Sunday afternoon for their first practice of the season. The players enjoyed a good workout and are feeling so good that they have challenged the local Ohio State Leaguers for a game next Sunday afternoon. Manager Smith says that the team is fortunate in having secured the services of Leslie Bratton as a pitcher for the coming season. Bratton has been in the United States army for the last three years and has only recently returned to this city. He is said to have a world of speed and a good assortment of curves and is expected to become a valuable addition to the team.

BOWLING PROPERTY SOLD SAT. URDAY.

Master Commissioner A. G. Sulser conducted the sale of the estate of Laura Bowling, deceased, Saturday afternoon. Mr. M. F. Coughlin purchased the East Second street property for $1,351. L. T. Gaeke got the Front street property for $575, and Mrs. Frank Spencer bought the burial lot in the Maysville cemetery at $20.

GRAND JURY

Makes Final Report For March Term—Seventeen Indictments Returned—No Bootleggers Indicted.

The Mason county grand jury finished their work for the present term of court. Following is their report:

The grand jury makes final report that it has examined about seventy-five witnesses and returned seventeen indictments. It has examined the offices and jail and find them well kept and in good order, and having no further business, asks to be excused.

R. A. CARR, Foreman.

The following indictments were returned:

Horace Jackson, knowingly receiving stolen goods, $300.

E. E. Hayes, making, uttering and passing check on bank in which he had no funds, bail $300.

Harry Tucker, uttering a forged check, bail $500.

Howard St. Clair, grand larceny, bail $500.

S. P. Lyons, L. T. Simpson and S. S. Musselman, driving cholera dogs on the highways, etc., bail $300 each.

Eneas Williams, house burning, bail $2,500.

Barry Renaker, same, $2,500.

George Brewer, appropriating personal property to his own use while in possession of a common carrier for transportation and delivery.

Thomas Brewer, same, bail $300.

Allen Fletcher, same, bail $300.

Thomas Gregory, seduction, bail $300.

There were also several secret indictments.

BOND ISSUE

Of $200,000 To Be Voted On In Mason County About June 24—Commissioners To Have Charge of the Money.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Roads Commission and the Advisory Board held at the City Council Chamber Saturday afternoon it was decided to hold another election in Mason county about June 24 to see whether or not a $200,000 bond issue for the improvement of roads and turnpikes could be put through.

As was stated several days ago the Fiscal Court turned the matter over to the Roads Commission, composed of six men who will each receive $3 a day for taking care of the funds and supervise the work of building and improving the roads. These men, in turn, will be guided by an Advisory Board composed of one man from each precinct in the county who will give their services free of charge.

With this plan there should be no trouble in having the bond issue passed as almost every good citizen and property owner wants better roads, but a number have been against the issue because of the fact that they thought the Fiscal Court was not the proper body to supervise the work and handle the funds.

Dr. J. W. Porter, pastor of the First Baptist church at Lexington, will preach the dedicatory sermon incident to the formal dedication of the new $60,000 Baptist church at Henderson, on April 30.

Dr. Charles Swisher of Cincinnati, is spending the day with his brother, Walter and family, at their home on West Fourth street.

Dr. Thompson of Brazil, gives an address at the Central Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. The public cordially invited.

FOR THE M. H. S. GIRLS

The new regulation dresses are becoming immensely popular, as they are not only smart and trim in appearance, but reflect a degree of school spirit that appeals to the normal girl student.

These garments can be had in your school colors, with desired emblem on sleeve. The caps are stamped, so you may embroider them with your class number.

At Eton, Harrow, Oxford and other English schools, students wear the colors, caps and clothes of their particular hall. It is an idea that American girls have just begun to adopt.

Come in and ask to see the three sample regulation garments we are now displaying. They are priced no higher than regular garments, and can be had with your class insignia and cap as required.

We are local distributors for the very latest novelties—a regulation dress for girls who attend college, high school or grammar school.

These clever student-fracks can only be seen in this store.

Your Speed the Sharples Speed

Every member of the family turns the separator crank at a different rate. Your present separator loses a lot of cream when the speed drops below normal. This loss amounts to more than you realize.

No matter who turns the crank, fast or slow,

THE NEW SHARPLES SUCTION-FEED

Separator gets all the cream all the time. The bowl draws in just enough milk to insure clean skimming. More cream means more money—a new profit without added expense.

The Suction-feed has many other important advantages. The cream is always of the exact thickness desired. The capacity increases with the speed. The large supply can be but knee-high—easy to fill.

The bowl has only three parts and no disks. There's nothing that's heavy, clumsy or fussy to wash.

THE CASE OF THE CITY MISSION.

There are very few people who know just how the City Mission is run, how much it costs to run it, or where the funds come from. The only thing they know is that we have such an institution, that it does much good and manages to get along. The city gives the institution $25, a small sum is made from the sale of old garments, a small amount is contributed by charitable persons and the Mission Board has to devise various means for securing other necessary money.

Mrs. Peddicord, the superintendent of the Mission, takes charge of a large number of cases every month, only, however, after each has been fully investigated to see whether or not the people are worthy. From time to time the Police Department has cases that demand investigation, especially in this case with negligent and drunken parents, and when this is the case the City Mission is usually asked to take care of the children concerned. Because of the low amount of working capital and the fact that Mrs. Peddicord has a large number of calls to make every day, it works a hardship on the finances of the home and hinders the superintendent in her work. If the cases were turned over to the Alms House the city would be forced to pay, but when turned over to the Mission they do not.

The Mission is doing a great work in Maysville and can not afford to be hampered. Every good citizen feels that this is so. Then, why is it not possible for the city to pay the City Mission for taking care of such cases the same as if they were taken to the Alms House? The cause is a just one and the members of the City Council should think the matter over and devise some way of protecting the City Mission in such cases.

A REAL MAN.

A professional dancing man may be a man for a' that. There's Vernon Castle, for instance. He's some dancer, as the phrase goes. A Broadway favorite for years, he has made more money dancing with his wife since he became the rage than he could have made as an actor in 200 years. And to this day his name on the bill will draw the crowd and its money anywhere. His future as a dancer is not behind him, as the Irishman would say. No man in the profession of amusing the public had bigger financial expectations than he.

But he's given them all up and sailed for England to serve his country in the war. He's an Englishman, and is going in the aviation corps—the most hazardous of all war service. From brilliant scenes, comfort and applause, to the uncertainties and hardships of battles in the air. He didn't want to go; not a bit; but he couldn't bear to imagine what his mother would think of him, what his English friends would say of him, if he remained in America making easy money when duty and his country called. He'd have gone a year ago but for obligations he had to meet, and the wife whose future he felt called on to provide for first.

Vernon Castle is a real man as well as a dancer.—Gallipolis Tribune.

VALUE OF OUR EXPORTS.

From the single port of New York last week there went to other nations outputs and products of our own to the value of nearly $79,000,000.

The highest record for any week in the history of the port and probably the highest record for one week of any port in the world.

Yet if our country had its rights to freedom of the seas; if our country had the open and unlimited markets of the peaceful nations of the world, which markets it is entitled to, it is very probable that $100,000,000 in value would have been the figures that the exports from New York during that week would have reached.

For with those markets of Holland, of Norway, of Sweden, of Denmark, of Greece, Spain, Switzerland and Portugal open to our farmers, our manufacturers, our packers, our miners, our merchants, the outputs and products of American labor would today be bringing far greater prices and our free trading with Europe would not be confined to the countries in Europe of the allies, but we would have the increased demand and the advanced prices which open competition for our commodities would surely bring.

There are few, very few, Americans who are willing to sacrifice the rights of this country for the sake of profit in trade with any foreign nation.

The Revolutionary fathers placed their lives and their fortunes at stake rather than submit to violation of their rights as colonists and the Americans of 1812, few in number, but strong in the righteousness of their cause, bade defiance to the then most powerful nation upon the earth rather than suffer limitation of their rights to freedom of the seas.

There has been no lowering of the standard of liberty in this republic since those glorious days. Those that imagine that our people for the sake of selling munitions of war, or exporting any output or disposing of any product are ready to submit to humiliation as a people; to insult as a nation, to continued injurious and illegal aggression by any foreign power, do not know the latent and deep-seated patriotism of the American people. The United States is an independent nation, a republic recognized as a free and independent unit among the nations of the world, and as such it is entitled to have its vessels flying its flag traverse the ocean highways subject only to international law. German necessity or British necessity, not French, Italian, Japanese, Turkish or Russian necessity should not be permitted to deprive the United States of its rights as an independent nation.

British buying of our products, French or Russian or Italian purchasing of our outputs we welcome, and our people stand ready to supply them one and all in full observations of neutrality and under international law.

But any administration or any political party or any public men or man that imagines for one minute that our people are ready and willing to barter, even to the most minute degree, the rights of this country to freedom of the seas and to the neutral markets of the world in exchange for the patronage of one or all of the foreign nations insults the intelligence and patriotism of the American people.

With freedom of the seas and the neutral markets both denied, the United States and its people today, it is the time of all times for administration of our government to be in control of those firm and strong and decisive in maintenance of American rights.—Enquirer.

CARELESSNESS AND INDIFFERENCE CAUSE OF MOST AUTO ACCIDENTS.

(Philadelphia Inquirer.)

Mr. Frederick Upham Adams has been making a study of the problem concerning the respective rights of pedestrians and automobilists, and he comes to the conclusion that it is one that will require the best thought of the authorities who are called upon to provide traffic regulations for our large cities. He estimates that it will only be a question of time when we shall have 5,000,000 automobiles in this country and that we ought to make ready for the best possible manner of handling the situation. With each new method of conveyance there has naturally been increased danger to life and limb. It was so with steam railroads and it was the case with the introduction of the trolleys in large cities. Even with these accepted modes of transportation the menace has by no means disappeared. Indeed, there were 5,000 deaths from railroad accidents last year, although steam roads have been in operation for more than half a century, and it would be supposed that people would be familiar with their danger and prepared to guard against it.

This brings up the thought that people are largely responsible for automobile accidents from their own carelessness and indifference. We are accustomed to the machines, to be sure, but this is one of the cases where familiarity is apt to breed contempt. Mr. Adams says that it is a common experience for pedestrians to walk into a car when it is standing stock still. He says there are individuals who, when they start to cross a street filled with automobiles, close their eyes and drop into a peaceful slumber from which no sounding horn can arouse them. He gives statistics, taken on a busy street, to show the number of children on roller skates, boys on bicycles and men and women who never look in the direction of the oncoming automobile until they are aroused by the sounding of the horn. It is not all one-sided, of course. There are reckless drivers who seem to think that pedestrians have no rights at all. But such cases can be cared for by the law. The great need is for traffic regulations that will meet existing and forthcoming conditions, and for a campaign that will make people careful and induce them to do their part in preventing avoidable accidents.

MANY STATES

FAVOR DU PONT

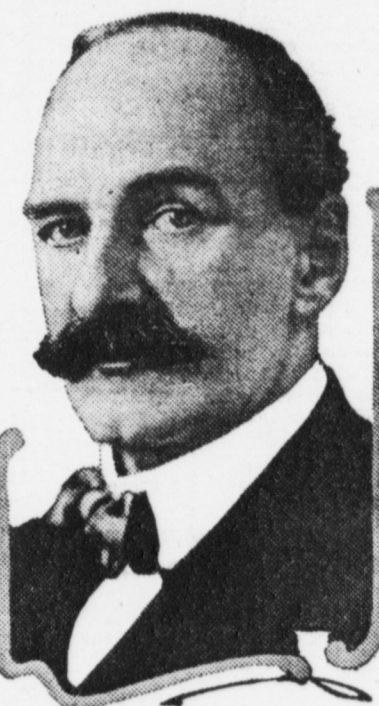

SENTIMENT FOR HIM CRYSTALLIZES AROUND CONVICTION THAT NATION NEEDS A BUSINESS MAN AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

DELAWARE MAN BEGAN AS A MINE MULE DRIVER

New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Alabama, Delaware, Kentucky, Indiana and Others, Swinging to Man Who Has Raised Himself From Mule Driver to Be One of the Most Successful Business Men in the Country.

The rapidity with which the boom for Coleman du Pont for president is spreading is winning favor with laborers as well as businessmen, miners as well as operators. In fact, all those who know Coleman du Pont personally, or are at all acquainted with his ability and his business methods are lending aid to the movement which promises to reveal him as the "dark horse" at the Chicago convention, and secure for him the Republican nomination for president.

According to an article in the Central City (Ky.) Argus, Democrats as well as Republicans are lending aid to the du Pont movement. It says: "There is sound reason for the du Pont boom in Kentucky, where he began at the bottom as a mule driver in a coal mine, for which he received the munificent sum of fifteen dollars per month. He fought it out with his mine mule, developing those traits of determination and patience which a mine mule driver requires, and made good. Step by step he advanced, through every phase of mine employment, finally becoming superintendent. Then, outgrowing this position he went elsewhere. The remainder of his career is history. Sheer ability and an understanding of men has placed him among the captains of industry of the United States, a leader in finance, development and charity. The latter trait has always been outstanding in character."

COLEMAN DU PONT.

The regard in which Coleman du Pont is held by his associates is little short of worship. They are spreading this sentiment throughout the country. No stronger evidence of this fact could be given than is contained in the following by Thomas L. Cannon in the Birmingham (Ala.) State Sentinel, a democratic newspaper: "With decade upon decade of American patriotism bred into his forebears and constantly transmitted to him, the production of the highest type of American manhood in his personality is not surprising."

"Washington at Valley Forge and all through the terrific and unequal struggle for American citizenship did not depend on any one to produce successful results more than he did upon DeNemours, the powder maker. "With all reverence to LaFayette, it would be no overrecognition to see the kinsman of DeNemours utilize his accumulated powers to serve this republic as its chief."

"Mr. du Pont is the embodiment of success. Experienced in business activities, trained in statecraft, socially equipped to meet the elite of civilization, he could assume any duty with confidence and success."

"Possessing courage and conviction with force to impress upon all his individuality, he has the lovable gentleness that marks the man of power."

"Able to influence captains of big business, also to sway the less fortunate through an innate sense of the justice, he produces the 'greatest good to the greatest number.'"

"Rich in resourcefulness, ripe in experience, rare in achievements, he is eminently fitted for any place."

"Without reflection on merit, without critical comparison, the republic has not produced one son to whom Coleman du Pont is not peer."

His friends will put him before the convention as an active candidate already. Delaware has declared for him as a favorite son; New York is for him as a "dark horse." Kentucky will swing to him, and so will many middle and western states. His nomination is no longer a mere possibility, but is assuming the form of a probability.

POPULATION'S GROWTH.

(Bradstreet's.)

Estimates made by the Census Bureau experts indicate that the population of the continental United States is growing at an average rate of over 1,600,000 a year. According to their figures, the population on July 1 last was 100,399,318, and on January 1 last 101,208,315, or a gain of 1,617,984 for the twelve months. For the curious in those matters the bureau furnishes calculations indicating that the population of the country is increasing at the rate of 4.433 persons a day, 184 an hour and 31.5 a minute. It is proper to say that the Census Bureau estimates are based upon the rate of increase between the census of 1900 and 1910. As a matter of contemporary human interest, it may be noted that in calculating figures of per capita circulation the treasury experts use somewhat larger estimates of population, their figure for January 1 last being 101,577,000, or in round numbers 368,000 in excess of that given by the census experts for that date. According to the Census Bureau, the western states have led in the rate growth, Washington heading the list, with Oklahoma, Nevada, North Dakota and New Mexico following, in the order named. It is worth while to notice that there is a considerable variance between the figures given by the Census Bureau experts for the population of New York state and that arrived at by the state enumerators last year. The population of the state as figured by the latter as of the date June 1, 1915, was 9,692,254. The national census officials estimate that the population of the state on July 1, just one month later, was 10,080,568. There is here a difference of over 394,000, and that on the basis of a calculation allowing an increase of 186,000 a year. It may be noted that the police census in New York city showed a considerably greater number than that revealed by the state census.

KITCHEN WORK IS A PLEASURE with an Estate gas range. You don't have any bother with a contrary fire. The gas flame is always ready, always completely under your control, and the cooking and cleaning are done so much quicker and better than with a coal or wood fire that the advantage of gas is quickly appreciated.

Sweet Pea Seed

We have an extra fine mixture of sweet peas this year, and as we grow thousands of them, we know our business when it comes to Sweet Peas.

We pay as high as two dollars an ounce for our forcing varieties, but you do not wish that kind for outside planting; we have an ORCHID FLOWERING mixture that we can sell you at 25 cents per ounce.

We also have the GRANDIFLORA varieties in separate colors if you wish them, and sell them at 15 cents per ounce.

The GRANDIFLORA MIXTURE is the best one for outside planting, as they do not grow too tall and bloom much better than any other variety.

Onions, science has discovered, are one of the most satisfactory substitutes for meat from the standpoint both of health and of economy. They cost only one-fifth to one-seventh what meat does, and a pound of them, when properly cooked, supplies the body as much nutriment and sustaining power as one and two-thirds pounds of the best meat.

POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Maysville

Because it's the evidence of a Maysville citizen.
Testimony easily investigated.
The strongest endorsement of merit.
The best proof. Read it:
Mrs. Della Luneford, 328 E. Front St., Maysville, says: "I attribute kidney trouble to a strain. I had sharp, shooting pains through my kidneys and a dragging-down feeling through my hips. I had dull headaches and dizzy spells and often if I had not caught hold of something for support, I would have fallen. I was in that condition for several years, up one week and in bed the next. I finally began to notice symptoms of dropsy. My feet began to swell and my hands were at times the same way. Finally, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me."
OVER THREE YEARS LATER Mrs. Luneford said: "Doan's Kidney Pills completely and permanently cured me and I am glad to confirm all I said in their praise before."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Luneford has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

PROBLEMS OF RETAIL TRADE

This is the first of a series of articles on the above subject and the following few days will see the entire series in print. It is hoped that it will make some useful suggestions, both to the public and to the merchants.

This is a period when many people buy for appearances, rather than for durable values. If an article looks attractive, many people will buy it, even if their own judgment and the store people warn them it will not give durable wear. As durable goods are often not stylish, and as stylish goods are often not durable, the merchant is a good deal puzzled as to which quality the public really values the most highly.

There are probably not so many good judges of the value of fabrics as in former years. The old timers, even in making a small purchase, scrutinized it very carefully, and deliberated thoughtfully, often asked the advice of neighbors and friends. Today the thought that used to go into the matter of wear is devoted to the question of style or fit.

Modern science has developed many methods of making cheap goods appear attractive. One merchant said the other day that though he had been in business twenty years, he was frequently unable to detect the presence of poor material, so cleverly was it concealed. So he had to ask the salesmen what the goods were made of, and had to depend upon their honesty, as evidenced by past dealings and the record of the houses they represent. If an experienced dealer is thus sometimes deceived by clever imitations, the general public is even less able to buy on its own judgment alone.

So the public depends more than ever on the honesty of the men with whom it is dealing. Here comes in the advantage of dealing with the merchants near one's home. They can't afford to sell goods that are not as represented. A sale made under a misunderstanding or false impression is left handed advertising of the worst kind. The success of the home merchant is dependent upon selling goods for just what they are.

HUGHES.

(Collier's)

If it turns out, after the Republican convention at Chicago next June, that Justice Hughes has secured the Republican nomination, the public will know that it has come about through the action of certain powerful leaders of the Republican party. Further, the public will assume that these powerful and intelligent men, responsible for the future of their party, have not named a pig in a pike—that these leaders have satisfied themselves as to how Justice Hughes stands on preparedness, on international relations, on Mexico, on the tariff, and on all the other issues likely to be discussed in the campaign, and to be vital to the country during the coming four years. There are only two ways for Justice Hughes to make known his views on these questions. One is to do it through a public statement; the other through private communications to those who will control the coming Republican convention. If Justice Hughes should fail to choose the first of these two methods, it will be a negation of all that the public has hitherto believed about him.

ROAD BUILDING

GOOD MANAGEMENT OF ROADS

Road Specialists of Department of Agriculture Place Blame for Defects in Highways.

When a county builds a good road and soon lets it become rutty, washed out, or uneven, who or what is principally to blame? As a result of a study of conditions in a number of counties, road specialists of the department are inclined to place the responsibility upon the following defects in road management, some of all of which are found in all counties where good roads are not properly repaired and maintained:

1. County boards, although having full administrative authority, appear not to attach to their official action in road matters the importance or legal effect which it should have.
2. County boards do not generally have sufficient accounting control of road funds to know what is available for any particular project, where funds have been or where existing balances are to be expended.

3. Lack of any systematic practice in handling road funds among most counties makes it very difficult to carry out over even a single year any persistent maintenance policy, because funds officially obligated for maintenance purposes are not protected against sporadic and irregular drafts for miscellaneous purposes. The greatest likelihood consequently exists everywhere that there will be no balance in the maintenance fund in the last half or third of the year, although only a part of the fund allotted may have been spent.

4. Local labor available for maintenance work is made dissatisfied by the constant, unintelligent, and unfavorable criticism of those using the road.

5. Maintenance continuing over a period of years—the ultimate indispensable condition of effective maintenance—is jeopardized by the lack of accounting control that will prevent spending next year's current income in this year.

6. The lack of skilled supervision in construction and the effect of this in increasing the cost or in making effective maintenance impossible is everywhere seen.

7. The county authorities are commonly opposed to following suggestions for maintenance that involve tying up road funds in any way, such as purchasing materials in advance to store along the road for making repairs or maintaining the road surface.

WIDE TIRES IMPROVE ROADS

They Have Same Effect on Country Highways as a Roller on Plowed Field—Wagon Pulls Easier.

The following appeared in a recent issue of "Extension News Service," published by the University of Nebraska.

Wide tires build up roads and save horse labor, according to the department of agricultural engineering at the university farm. They have the same effect upon a country road as a roller on a plowed field. On the other hand, the narrow tire cuts up a road like a disk. It has been found by actual test in this department that the wide-tired wagon pulls easier in nearly all cases than the narrow-tired wagon. In deep mud on a country road the wide-tired wagon pulls 6.2 per cent easier. On the country road with a thin surface of mud or deep dust, however, the narrow tires pull 4.9 per cent easier. In a cornfield the wide tires pull 30.5 per cent easier, in a dry alfalfa field 17.7 per cent easier, and on a dry country road 10.2 per cent easier.

If plans for standardizing the gauge of the railway of Australia, as recommended by the chief engineer of the different lines, be carried out, it will mean an expenditure of $18,000,000.

A patent has been granted for a woman's fans, with mirrors on the sticks.

RAW MATERIALS FOR AUTOMOBILE BUILDING REACH RECORD HIGH PRICE.

Never before in the history of automobile building have raw materials reached such high prices. F. E. Watts, chief engineer for the Hupp Motor Car Corporation, has just completed a very thorough investigation of the raw material market.

The following article by Mr. Watts shows one phase of his investigation: "From present indications there is not much hope for a reduction in prices of iron and steel products for some time to come. My reasons for thinking this are as follows:

"At the present time the steel companies are contracting for the third and fourth quarters of this year at the present market prices which are high. In order to protect themselves on the raw material, the steel companies are now contracting for their pig iron, coke, steel scrap and alloying elements, the prices of which are extremely high.

"Practically all of the Ferro manganese used in the manufacture of steel is imported from England. The latest quotation made on this product was $225 per ton in comparison with $40 a ton before the war started. Last week the British government declared an embargo on the exportation of Ferro manganese, and it will have to be obtained from some source as yet undeveloped. A company is being organized in Chicago at the present time, but it will be several months before it is in operation.

A NEW IDEA IN STRIKES.

(New York World.)

The Toledo street car strike which has just been settled is characterized by the mayor of Toledo as "the most remarkable in the history of traction troubles, in that there were no disturbances." The strike involved a thirteen days' tie-up of traffic, and was brought to an end through a series of conferences between the men and their employers.

There has long been a theory that strikes could be settled in just this manner, and here at last the hope has been realized. All precedents favored obstinate determination on both sides, eventual recourse to violence and an appeal to the police and possibly the militia. Instead, the two parties to the quarrel conferred, made mutual concessions, and finally got close enough together to adjust their differences without assaulting anybody or dynamiting a car.

True, labor apparently gets the lion's share of the concessions and the public stands to lose, in the prospective abolition of the 3-cent fare.

But the gain is in the settlement of a dangerous labor dispute without disorder and by the methods of conciliation available in all industrial disagreements. We have had the "Iowa idea" and the "Wisconsin idea" in politics, and the "Philadelphia plan" in railroad finance. Why not the Toledo plan in labor quarrels.

MEXICAN WAR VETERANS.

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

The Commissioner of Pensions informs me personally that there are still living 563 men who fought in the old war with Mexico.

It is seventy years since the war began, and it will be sixty-eight years on July 4 since it was officially ended. There were 105,000 United States troops in that two-year conflict, of whom 31,000 were regulars and the others were militia and volunteers.

These figures are an index of the price our country would pay today were it to attempt a complete subjugation of Mexico. That republic's population is now three times as great as it was seventy years ago, when it required 105,000 American soldiers two years to make the conquest.

Military men of high rank have told me recently that we would now need an army of 400,000 men, of whom 100,000 would be lost during the two years it is expected a second conquest of Mexico would require.

War widows have a way of surviving their husbands many years. Thus, while there are 563 soldiers living who actually fought under Scott or Taylor seventy years ago, there are 3,329 widows who are receiving pensions on account of their husbands' service during the Mexican war.

The last widow of a soldier of the Revolution died not many years ago; but the last soldier of that war expired in 1869.

It seems highly probable that at the bicentennial of our national independence in 1976—sixty years hence—there will be widows of the Civil war soldiers drawing pensions from the government.

MORE STRENGTH FOR FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE.

If all the old people in Maysville realized what Vinol will do for them, we would not be able to get enough of it to supply the demand. We quote from a recent letter received from Mrs. A. E. Carson of Kingstown, N. Y. She says:—"I am 69 years of age, and had been ailing for a long time with indigestion. I got run-down, was weak, dizzy and could not sleep at night. I consulted two doctors who said I had hardening of the arteries and at my age could not expect to be strong again. My daughter would give me no peace until I tried Vinol, as it had done so much for her. I have taken five bottles and my health and strength have come back, so I am able to do all the housework for my family of four, and I am recommending Vinol to all my friends."

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace declining strength with renewed vigor, viz: the medicinal elements of fresh cod livers without oil, peptonate of iron, beef peptone, and a mild tonic wine.

PASSOVER.

The Jewish feast of Passover falls on the 15th day of Nisan, corresponding this year with Tuesday, April 18th. The celebration begins on the evening of April 17th with sundown. The manner of its observance was determined largely by the Biblical ordinances concerning this feast. It is to be observed for a period of seven days. Those who cherish customs that originated after Bible times will keep the feast eight days.

The ceremonies are such as are calculated to bring home the historical event which the feast commemorates, namely, the new born freedom vouchsafed to Israel after the long period of oppression endured under Egyptian tyranny. The eating of unleavened bread is enjoined a number of times in the Biblical regulations touching the observance of the Passover feast. Unleavened bread is characterized as the "bread of affliction," and is also referred to in the Bible as the bread that was unleavened because of the enforced hasty departure from Egypt. In post-Biblical times the earnest desire to keep the injunctions most scrupulously led the teachers of Israel to enact laws, such as the use of special dishes that had been guarded from contact with leaven and reserved only for the Passover season.

A charming and effective feature in the celebration of the feast is the special Seder service around the festive family board on the first evening of the feast, to which the Orthodox add a second evening. At this family service a special ritual known as the "Haggadah" is read. This ritual contains the story of the redemption from servitude, certain reflections inspired by the memories of old and certain psalms. This is followed by the festive meal after which Grace is recited. The service concludes with the reading of additional psalms, the recitation of prayers and the singing of time-honored hymns. To this home service stranger and homeless are cordially invited. On the table in front of him who presides over the meal are placed objects reminiscent of the ancient service and servitude, such as bitter herbs, reminder of the bitter lot of those who toiled in Egypt; a roasted bone, calling to mind the ancient paschal lamb; a roasted egg, memorial of the free will offering that was brought in addition to the paschal lamb; parsley and the bowl of salt water, symbolizing the hyssop and its use in the first Passover observed in Egypt, and a confection of nuts and apples to represent the clay which Israel worked into bricks.

The Passover falling at the beginning of spring, had originally a pastoral and agricultural character, which in time was overshadowed by the historical event associated later with the feast. Freedom and its obligation is the keynote of the celebration. The reform synagogues hold special services only on the first and seventh days, while the Orthodox observe also the second day and an additional eighth day.

New Twirler Signed For Colts.

(Lexington Herald.)
Joe Burge of the Winston-Salem team of the South Carolina League, is the latest addition to the Colts' hurling staff. A signed contract was received from Burge yesterday by Manager Guyn. The new twirler is said to have had several years' experience and is able to deliver the goods. He comes to Lexington with the reputation of being "some pumpkins."

Manager Guyn has also received the signed contracts of Ray Lingrel and "Mark" Hanna. These men will report in several days and may be seen in action probably after Sunday. The Colt squad is working out daily at League Park and many of the Yanigans are showing class.

The following items in Sunday's Enquirer are of interest to Maysville fans:

Bob Freck has caught on with Maysville, Ky., in the Ohio State League.
Catcher Novack refuses to report to the Frankfort (Ky.) team this season.

Fred Mollenkamp may don his professional baseball rags again the coming season and play in the Ohio State League.

It looks as if Manager Winterman of the Dayton Mudville club, would lose the services of Wiltzie, the sensational infielder, to Maysville, as Jimmy Jones is sweet on the kid's work.

The Frankfort Ohio State Leaguers were defeated at Louisville Sunday by the Colonels by the top-sided score of 16 to 0.

HE LIVED IN OUR COUNTY.

He was a merchant—successful, too. Made a good deal of money. Kept it hidden in the cellar. He died. Strangers entered the house—some of them went down cellar. SOME of the money has been recovered. A lot of it has disappeared. A lot of our readers may remember this case. Had he kept his money here not a single dollar would have been lost. It would all be here.

No man need find the word Failure in the Dictionary of Life. It isn't there. It's only in the man.
